WEST COAST ITEMS

-The city of Santiago, Chili, according to a recent census, has a population of 243,000.

Another cabinet crisis is spoken of in Chili, and already the composition of a new cabinet is under discussion.

-Reports are current in Santiago, Chili, that the minister of foreign affairs, Dr. Adolpho Guer-rero, has resolved to resign.

-Telegrams from various points on the wes coast announce the election of Dr. Severo Fernan-dez Alonso as president of Bolivia.

—A Valparaiso telegram of the 15th inst, says that many cases of hydrophobia have recently appeared in that city, causing great alarm.

—A socialists party is in process of organization in Chill. If the rotor are once culisted in such a party, there will be much trouble to control them. A Santiago telegram of the 17th says the Chilian government proposes to expend $280,000 gold in the construction of lighthouses at various points on the coast.

—Slight earthquake shocks continue to be felt all along the west coast. A Quito telegram of the 16th says that the population of Portravejo has been fright-ened uno leaving that town by a series of carthquake shocks, accompanied by a torrential rainfall.

—Advices from Iquitos, Perú, of May 3rd, trans-mitted by way of Mandos, three that a revolution has occurred in the department of Loreto, which has been proclaimed a federal state with Ricardo Seminarios provisional governor. The prefect has been deposed and a constituent assembly was to be called to draft a constituent assembly was to be called to draft a constituent assembly as to large department on the eastern slope of the Andes and comprises four provinces.

—The government is about to issue bonds to the value of £265,000 in payment of the Coquimbo railways. The bonds will be dated January 1st, 1836, and will bear interest at 4½ per cent. per annum, with a camulative amortisation of ½ per cent. per annum. There will be 2,500 ininis of £100 each, and 750 of £20 cach, and the interest on the same will be pard half yearly, on June 30 and December 31, in Saniagn or in Paris at the option of the holders of the bonds. The government reserves the right to make extraordinary amortisations after the year 1900. Drawings will take place half, yearly, in April and October, unless the bonds should be below par, when the amortisation will be effected by that puchase of bonds. — Chilan Times.

Times.

—The new heaty of peace and commerce that has been signed in Santiago de Chile between the reputilise of Bolivia and Chile does not give the least hint with regard to the delivery to Bolivia of a post on the Pacific. There were rumors that Chile had compromised herself to grant the port of Arica, when that place came under her domain as the result of a piebscire, that should award her the perpetual owner-hip of Trana and Arica, the two kernvian provinces she now holds. But there appears to be some influence at work that has caused Chile to cither annul that promise or to defer the accomplisiment to some future date. It is strongly suspected that Peru has enlisted the good offices of some friendly power that has intimated to Chile the desirability of giving fair play to Peruvian voiers, and that no pressure shall be exercised to complete put to give her lawful territory. —Times, Buenos Ares.

—Wethink the Methodist churches of North compel Peu to give her lawful territory,—Times, Buenos Aires.

—We hink the Methodist churches of North America were perfectly justified in bringing before the notice of his ludiness the manuer in which the civil law now almost universal is still overridden in various countries of Surface and Bolivia it said as a scandal that in Ecuador, Perú and Bolivia it should still be accessary for Protestinot so make what is practically a profession of the Roman Catholic faith before they can be legally married; and the remonstrate forwarded by the North American church deserved at least an acknowledgment by one who professes to desire the tennion of christendom. It is much too late in the day to bring abmit any such reminon by the maintenance of oppressive and vexatous laws: if any kind of reunion is to be possible—which we very much doubt—it is only reasonable to ask for some steps of concession by the predominant party. Of conrese we are apt to forget how largely the Pope's policy must lie one of composines: the lass to make allowance for the ignorance and bigotry still existing in these countries, for which lie is in no way responsible, but which cannot be uproted in day, and which cannot in all cases be directive opposed without a risk of alienating those who are in many ways faithful children of mother church.—

PROGRESSIVE JAPAN.

PROGRESSIVE JAPAN.

Japan is fully maintaining her reputation as the most self-reliant and enterprising nation of the East. Not only have the Japanese been always ready to take advantage of Western experience and ingenuty, but when sufficiently educated in the use of imported mechanical appliances they have invariably done their best, and with a considerable meed of success, to mainfacture the same class of machinery. For instance, commencing with importing mining machinery from England, through the intelligence of the agents that were sent alroady the intelligence of the agents that were sent alroady both by the government and private firms, they soon came to recognise that American mining machinery of American make as its to sell English. Not content with this, lowever, the Japanese are now manufacturing a content and private from England, and to-day it is twice as easy to sell English. Not content with this, lowever, the Japanese are now manufacturing a content and in the same of the Asuncion, April 19.

After living for some eight months the life of a New Australian, I return once again to civilisation: not, however, without regret, for the confinement and conventionalities of a town life go ill with one who has tasted the absolute liberty that is possible in the colony.

I shall miss the keen debates, the excite ment of the open air meetings, with the barely-suppressed passions of the speakers, the rough, hearty vigor of life generally: perhaps, even the perty quarrels, jealousies and muttered growls that go to make up the daily round.

To have been an eye-witness, if not a participant in the many events that have taken place during the past few months, appears to me now as a very great privilege, from which I have learnt lessons I can never forget.

It may be that there are many of your If may be that there are many of your readers quite unaware of the state of this colony and of its prospects, who are interested in the fate of its people, for are they not of the same race? So I will write as briefly and truly as possible what New Australia is doing, and in what direction it is

Yet it must be remembered that though Yet it must be remembered that though I may give facts and figures satisfactory enough to the ordinary inquirer, there is something of far deeper significance than mere physical well or ill-doing to be noted. New Australia is an advance goard of the great world movement that is slowly, but surely changing the politics of every civilised nation, and how great soever a success it may be as a colony, the impulse it has given to thought mast go on forever. The lesson of self-government is being

The lesson of self-government is being but slowly learnt by the people of the world; yet learnt it has to be if the human race is to make progress in happiness and wisdom, and co-related with that, the exercise of complete freedom by the individual, limited only by the equal freedom of his fellows.

All these lessons of government or liberty can only be learnt by conflict, and New Australia since its inception has been New Australia since its inception has been continually evolving from one state of turmoil to another. During the process of evolution, it improves, and will continue to improve as long as this mental activity lasts. Men and women are gradually developing their individualities as they can only do under conditions of perfect liberty. Upon every one is thrown the strong glare of public opinion, nothing that is in them can remain long concealed. Whatever of good or bad they may have within them is laced to the surface, for each one is judged by his or her deeds alone, even if, as is often the case, these are in direct opposition to their spoken words.

the case, these are in direct opposition to their spoken words.

As the present chairman truly remarked, many men have left New Australia worse men than when they first arrived there, and others again are superior. The same conditions that made a bad man worse, or a weak man weaker, are precisely those which go to make the good man better, the strong man strugger.

Nowhere could this truth be more clearly Nowhere could this truth be more clearly shown than in the colony, for some men who in the old country or under different conditions were reckoned to be upright and honest, never having had the temptation to be otherwise, have developed greed, selfishness and even worse plasses of character; while other simple, unassuming men have developed a nobility and grandeur of mind that could never have otherwise been brought to light.

So much for the moral aspect of New Australia. To the outside world, the colony is noth

To the outside world, the colony is nothing more than a land company, registered in Asuncion under the title of the Sociedad Colonizadora Co-operativa Nueva Australia. There are eight elected shardholders, who hold all the property in trust for the people, but I have no doubt that in the near fiture it will be found advisable to make all the members shareholders, for the present system is embersoned.

The affairs of the colony are directed by an elected board of management, who act been distorted into all sorts of strange restrictions, rules and regulations, so that communism, properly speaking, is unknown in the colony, and its principles are under-stood really by very few. The people are still suffering from the effects of eighteen centuries of so-called government, and they centuries of so-called government, and they find liberty and freedom value to a great a strain upon their faculties; with the result, only to be expected of course, that license reigns supreme, and true liberty is found only by those who can appreciate it.

The present population numbers roughly two hundred, living in five villages, of which the two extremes are ten index apart.

and the two extremes are ten mines apart, and the result is an enormous waste of time and labor, besides hindering co-operation. The sociedad holds a very large concession, which will be probably exchanged for the definite titles to a portion of the land, as new members will not join without the service of substances and the service of substances and the service of substances are substantially substantial to the service of substantial substantial

There are vast tracts of magnificent timber of all kinds, containing most of the woods for which Paraguay is justly famed.

There is no doubt that the colony possesses a splendid property, but which will require some years to fully develop. In the meantime the land is open to cultivation by members or non-members of the colony, and they can work singly or in co-operation as they think fit.

The following is a condensed balance sheet as of 31st January last, shewing the approximate value of the colony. The value attached to improvements is merely a book value, and only represents a fractional part

The founders and prospectors of the colony have much to anspect wer for; perhaps a day of reckoning will come; and it is to be hoped that justice may be meted out to those who have demay be meted out to those who have defrauded or otherwise made away with the resources of the colonists. That there has been fraud and deception, infortunitely there is no room to doubt. It would be interesting to learn for instance what has become of the proceeds of the Royal Tan and other property in Australia, and of the books of the old association, from the lips of that high-souled enthusiast William Lane, and also whence come the funds upon which this man Lane and his Cesane colonists are living. Of the business transact mist are living. Of the business transactions of the colony the less said the better, for they reveal so much culpable negligence, so much sheer idiocy, that one is ashamed to think of them. That the colony will notif for much show for his product. still exists after such shameful neglect and mismanagement shews how strong it really is at bottom, and that only by some unforeseen calamity can it be prevented from rising out of its present state of poverty to a condition of independence.

It has lately passed through another severe crisis, shaking its very foundations. There was a deliberate attempt on the part of the old officials to break up the c.dony, only defeated after a severe struggle. I think myself that the old management saw an elected board of management, who act through the chairman, (and by virtue of that office president of the sociedad) and a secretary, but financial matters are arranged by the president and a signatory director.

The internal working of the colony is based upon certain well defined principles, known to the world as "communism," but these principles broad as they are, have colony together, conduct affairs in a busicolony together, conduct affairs in a business-like manner, and face the questions and difficulties before them honestly and seriously. In a few words the present position is this, they are trying to concentrate their labor, tools and machinery and are being aided by the government to the extent of $800 per month. They have a certain food supply for the coming year, and a good stock of cattle, horses, pigs, fowls, etc., always increasing in numbers and improving in quality. They have a great deal of dead work done, and sufficient ground cleared for immediate needs.

They are working hard towards the definite object of producing a revenue, and know pierty well what they have to do to obtain it. They are very short of clothes and will find difficulty in supplying themselves this coming winter. They require nesh blood and more capital, and want people who have made up their minds to build a home in Paraguay and settle there. The climatic and other natural conditions are as nearly perfect as could be, and altoare as nearly perfect as could be, and alto-gether I have no historium in saying that nee the present hardships are surmounted. New Australia will be a happy and flourishing community, with all the possibilities of developing the high aims and ideals with which it started.

Naturaliy, in the limited space available anything like a fully detailed report on New Australia is impossible. Those who wish to know more will find it in a complete report shortly to be published.

MORE PROOFS OF CHILIAN JUR-ISDICTION OVER PATAGONIA.

It has already been stated in a previous annele that one of the objects had in view in exhibiting the titles of Chili to Fatagonia, is to show to the world the enormous sacinfice made by this country, under exceptional circumstances, some years ago. To the titles already adduced there now remain to be added those relating to the ecclesiastical jurisdiction exercised by Chili, from remote times, in the territory in question. On the castern side of the Andess non remote times, in the errorry in ques-tion. On the eastern side of the Andes cordillera, in latitude 42°15', or there-abouts, and at 537 metres above the sea-level, there is a large lake called Nahuel-huipi, which has on its northwestern extremity an island of from twelve to fifteen kilometies in length and from three to four in width. It was discovered by mission-aries from Chiloe in 1610, and they estabaries from Chiloé in 1610, and they estab-lished there a mission house which was destroyed by the Indians in 1655. Four veats later the mission was reestablished, but this time on the island, by Father Nicolas Mascardi, who was killed by the Indians in 1663, while endeavouring to penetrate into the interior in quest of the fibulous "Cindad de los Cesares." A royal decree of 1683, addressed to Governor Garro, provided that the Jesut missions established on the island and on the margin of the lake were subject to the jurisdiction. of the lake were subject to the jurisdiction of Chili, and that they were to be maintained at of the funds granted to the "remo" for religious objects. Another royal decree of May 11, 1697, ordered the creation of a genera, board of missions of the kingdom, genera, board of missions of the kingdom, to be presided over by the governor with the assistance of the bishop of Santiago. In 1799, the inspector-general of mission "pasada la cordilleta nevada." The proposition was submitted to the general board and was accepted, and the inspector-general was instructed to carry out the idea. This was idone, and with sinch excellent results that in languary trop. Governor Marin da. in January, 1700, Governor Marin de Poveda was able to inform the Spanish monarch that the missionaires had penetrat-ed into the interior of Patagonia. In No-vember of the year just mentioned Marin de Poveda was succeeded in the governor-ship of the "reino" by Ibañez de Peralta, This functionary, on June 30, 1703, wrote his monarch that since his arrival in Chili it his monarch that since his arrival in Chili it had not been found necessary to convoke the board of missions created by the royal whilst jewels and costly labries are previously to his communication, when the board was convoked for the purpose of sending two missionaries among the Poyas Indians, which was done; and they were maintained out of the sustemance fund of the "reno." In a royal decree of February, 1713, the Spanish monarch gave his entire approval to everything that had been done to connection with the missions in question; and in another royal wit of the same date

The instance just quoted of Nahuelhuapi being called a province of Chili is not the only one that occurs in a royal document, as will be seen presently. In a royal as will be seen presently. In a royal decree of November, 1713, relating to the maintenance of the transandine mission in maintenance of the transandine mission in question, the Spanish monarch says to the oficiales reales de Potosi: "Atendidos el airaso i miseria esperimentados i que esperimentado los religiosos de la mision nombrada Nuestra Señom de la Asuncion de indios Puelches i Poyas que mievamente se ha vinelta de establecer en la provincia de Nahuelhuapi del remo de Chile, mando...

The werd, italiersed occur further on in the same document thus: "... Como tambien same document thus: "... Como tambien lo que correspondiere al sinodo de la que same document thus: "... Como tammen lo que correspondiere al sinodo de la que uneva i nhimamente se ha erijido i tengo confirmada de indros Preiches i Poyas en la provincia de Valuelimari en dicho reino de Chile..." Nine years later the Jesun missionaries petitioned that the stipend gianted to them should be made payable in Lima instead of at Potosa, and the king in a royal decree again calls that part of Patagonia in which the mission was situated "province of Nahuelhuapi in the kingdom or Chili." It follows, therefore, that the mission was held by the Spanish monarchs, the consejo de Indias, the governors of Chili, and the general board of missions to be situated in the "reino de Chile." After many years of heroic efforts on the part of the missionaries, the mission had a disastrons and deplomble end, and the fathers perished in retreating over the mountains. In 1764 Pather Watters submitted a plan In 1764 Father Watters submitted a plan to the Chilian authorities for the reestablishment of the Nahuelhnapi mission, the foundation of new missions in the southern foundation of new missions in the southern archipelago, in the whole of Patagonia, in the Straits and in Tierra del Fuego. The governor of Chili assented to the foundation of certain missions, and he assigned to the fithers certain supends, one of which was conditional, and was to be payable, in the words of the "real acuerdo" on the subject, "en los aflos en que se verificase entrada en a tierra firme paia el Estrecho de Magallanes i naciones que la habitan, con tal de la tierra firme paia el Estrecho de Magallanes i naciones que la labitan, con tal de no hacerse ninguna sin espresa licencia de aquel superior gobierno (Chill)." The officers of the general audit office in Madrid in n report on the same subject, recognise the jurisdiction of the "reino de Chile" over Patagonia in the following words: "... Advirtiendo siempre que el aumento de cien pesos en el sinodo se ha de entender en los años que, con licencia de aquel gobierno se verificase entrada en la tierra firme que va al Estrecho de Magallanes i no de otra manera." Father Watters in his plan had proposed the establishment of a mission, and the erection of a fort for the prolad proposed the establishment of a mission, and the erection of a fort for the protection of Spanish vessels, passing through the "Estrecho de Mayre." The "contaduria de Madrid" was of opinion that the resolution of this matter corresponded to the "presidente i majistrados reales de aquel teino," and turther on they add: "con todo no es despreciable la especie i seria importante prevenir lo conveniente al Presidente de Chile para que lo examine i dé enenta à S.M.;" which recognition of jurisdiction brings this article to a fitting close.

ABYSSINIA has been called the Prussia of Africa, and it is likely to largely influence the peace of Europe. In this event the character of the Negus, Europe. King Menelek, is worth analysis. He is brave uniscrupulous, but chivalrous, as permission to al-low the beleaguered Italian garrison to walk out with all the honors of war demonstrated. His palace is thatched, like the houses in the street in which it stands, but it is full of quaint and varied ornaments, and much of its decoration is formed of ornaments, and much of its decoration is formed of a trellis work of the very latest rifles and guis, whilst jewels and costly labrics are well arranged, He has his supersitions, and is afraid of the evil eye, spoks and monks—a very proper selection. For the last twelve years the one holby of his life has been collecting arms. His army is of the class of the Zulu before Cetewayo's power was broken. His dress is a carrience abose of the zell. broken. His dress is a curious choice of the good points from eastern and western costume. His enormous Panama straw bespeaks the pampas and sound security against the sun. He wears a burn-ous like an Arab for freedom, but is underclad in

BRITISH FEELING ON THE VENEZUELAN Q UESTION.
(Rt. Hon, James Bryce in the February North American.)

The British people had not cared about The British people had not cared about the Venezuelan question because they had not known about it. Nobody had the least idea that your government considered the matter to be one of immediate and primary importance to America, justifying an ultimatum. That the Monroe doctrine could be deemed involved had not occurred to our minds. We have been accustomed to regard that doctrine as asserting the objections entertained by the United States to two things, viz.: the establishment of any new settlement of a European power in America, and the attempt to forcibly change by European arms the form of government any new seducement of a runopean power in America, and the attempt to forcibly change by European arms the form of government which an American community has created. Even now, after reading what has been said by Mr. Olney and others in America, the Monroe doctrine, as enunciated by Monroe and expounded by American historians and publicists up till the last few months, seems to have no more application in this particular case than a dogma of theology or a proposition in mathematics.

A large part of the American public seems to give its sympathy to Venezuela rather than to British Guiana, and apparently only because Venezuela is called a republic. The notion that Great Britain is not a free country because the head of the state is not elected but (greatly to the convenience of a democratic people which has venience of a democratic people which has elections enough already) is selected by statute from a particular family according to a defined rule, must surely have long since disappeared from the United States Yet the converse idea seems to linger that a Yet the converse idea seems to linger that a community is linear and self-governing because it calls itself a republic and its head a president. What a singular illustration of the power of a name? Like almost all the other "republics" of Spanish and Pottuguese America (Chili is an exception), Venezuela is and has been for many years a military tyranny. Power, won hy force and maintained partly by rifles and partly by money, has passed from one adventurer to another, with no freedom and no self-government as those things are understood in another, with no freedom and no sell-government as those things are understood in Great Britain and America. The civilization of these countries is of a low type. Their diplomacy is so tricky and shifty that it is hard to maintain any diplomatic relations with them; and one of the difficulties we have had in settling this question with Venezuela is that negotiations have been interrupted by revolutions, and our foreign office could never count upon having that interrupted by revolutions, and our foreign office could never count upon having that which one dictator had appeared to agree to accepted by the next. There is not a monarchy in western Europe, perhaps one might say in all Europe (excluding Turkey), that is not more free, more orderly, and more progressive than these mock republics; and it is not strange that the British colonists in the disputed territory, who have settled there in the belief that they were safe under colonist laws and administration, should feel alarmed at the risk of being turned over to such a government as that turned over to such a government as that of Venezuela. American citizens would be the last to relish such a prospect for

I am not, however, arguing that American I am not, however, arguing that American sympathy should go with the colonists on the ground of blood or of freedom—justice first. What has astonished us is that the mere empty name of "republic" should apparently have won much American sympathy for the state which is, in fact, the less free of the two, and the less like your own. So far from endeavoring to increase our influence as against the United States, on the shores of the gulf of Mexico or Caitbean sea. I believe that if the United States bean sea; I believe that if the United States were presently to annex Guatemala, say, or Venezuela itself, Britain would look on with

Were presently to annex Guatemata, say, or Venezuela itself, Britain would look on with unconcern, so far as no treaty rights of her own were affected.

That, however, which has most astonished us is the disclosure of a hostility to Great Britain in considerable sections of the American people. Those Englishmen who have travelled in America have of course been aware of the mischief your schoolbooks do in teaching young people to regard the English as enemies because there was war in the days of George III. Such Englishmen knew that as Britain is almost the only great power with which the United States has had diplomatic controversies, national feeling has sometimes been led to regard her as an adversary, and displays of national feeling of ten took the form of defiance. Even such travellets, however, were not prepared for the language of the President and its reception in many quarters, while as to Englishman generally, they could scarcely credit their eyes and cars. The average Englishman likes America far better than any foreign nation. The educated and thoughtral Englishman has looked upon your republic as the champion of freedom and peace, has held you to be our natural ally, and has even indulged in the hope of a jermanent alliance with you, under which the citizens of each country should have the rights of citizenship in the other and be added by the consuls and protected by the fleets of the other all over the world. The sentiments which the news for a Menerica ecoked were, therefore, common to all classes in were, therefore, common to all classes in England. After a few days per ple began to understand that Congress was not to be taken as necessarily representing the whole people, and understood also that the first vibrations of the chord of national semiment—a chord which responds in all high-spirited peoples when they are told that their honor is affected—might be different from the deliberate convictions of the citi-zens when there had been time to inquire zens when there had been time to inquire whether either national honor or national interests were in danger. It came to be known that many who had deckared approval of the President's message had not inderstood it to mean war, and thet unfluential bodies regretted its tone, and that the Christian churches were pleaning for peace and good-will. Thus the tension relaxed.

A shock has been given to public confi-relaxed.

A shock has been given to public confidence, not only in the spheres of commerce and finance, but in other spheres also. A postponement, which may prove fatal, of the efforts of Britain to save the Armenian Christians from extermination has most unhappily followed. Nor are we entitled to assume that all danger is over, though some of us will not believe that a shot will ever be fired by either people against the other until it has been fired. But the results of the crisis will not have been wholly unfortunate if it leads us in Britain to study and comprehend better the lines upon which fortunate if it leads us in Britain to study and comprehend better the lines upon which opinion is moving in the United States, if it rosses both people to try to climinate any causes for reciprocal jealousy or offense which may be removable, and if it hastens the establishment of a permanent system of arbitration for the settlement of all grounds of difference between them.

of difference between them.
Englishmen, many of whom would have no great dislike to a war with some other power (for there is a great deal of the pugnacity of Henry the Fifth's time left among ns), are thoroughly pacific in this instance, and not merely or perhaps chiefly from prudence, but because they feel that a war with America would be a civil war, in which even victories could bring no glare. Engeven victories could bring no glory. Eng-lishmen have also, I think, an open mind on the boundary question. They have not yet looked into it, and they are prepared to do so with a wish to be fair. Passion has not yet been aroused, and will not be, has not yet been arouset, and will not be, except by the language of menace. Everyone desires that an honomble way out of the present difficulty may be found. If the same temper prevails on the other side of the ocean—as we trust and believe it does—that way will soon be found.

RIO DE JANEIRO, MAY 10th, 1806.

It is to be greatly regretted that the new sanitary commission has taken up that lençol de aguas controversy, as it will surely lead to the deleat of any practical measure for the immediate sanitation of this city. Whether there is a prejudicial "sheet of water under this city, or not, it must be admitted that there is much uncleanliness on the surface and that this is the prime cause of our epidemics. Possibly Mr. Revy may be quite right about the harm caused by this substratum of saturated sand, but if we are to wait until expensive engineering works are established to drain and carry off these waters, the sanitary improvements desired will be long deforred. Whatever may be done with this drainage problem, it must be apparent to everyone that we must improve the water-front, the streets, and our tenement houses. We must have the filthy, disease-breeding shore-line of the Saude and S. Christovão districts filled in, and we must have the congested districts opened more to air and sunlight. While such plague-spots exist as those in Rua da such plague-spots exist as those in Rua da Miseicordia, which were so graphically described in the Raiz, it is absurb for any sanitary commission to waste its time over subsoil drainage discussions. Let us have these foul tenements cleansed, and let us have the filthy streets about them cleaned and repaired. Let us have the poor people properly housed and fed, and let us compel our apathetic sanitary inspectors, who inspect nothing but their pay, to visit their habitaon thing but their pay, to visit their habita-tions regularly to prevent the accumulation of garbage or the practice of anything un-sanutary. Rio de Janeiro has a very large percentage of ignorant people whose habits are anything but clean, and she has likewise a very large percentage of mercenary land-lords who will do absolutely nothing to keep their buildings clean and in good repair. To prevent epidemics, therefore, constant supervision must be maintained and abuses must be prevented. These measures can be carried into effect at once, for they require no plans and estimates. Let clean-liness be the first sanitary measure enforced, and we can safely guarantee an immediate improvement in our sanitary condition.

THE protests of the liquor distillers and wine manufacturers against the new taxes are unquestionably entitled to considera-tion, but it should not be forgotten that they represent industries which can very well be taxed and restricted without public injury. The production and sale of rum benefits a limited number of planters, benefits a limited number of planters, dis-tillers and publicans, but beyond that it benefits no one. It is a source of crime, disease and poverty everywhere, and if high taxes can contribute anything toward a decrease in its use, then such taxes are abundantly justified. At any rate, the traffic should take care of all the evil it produces—the cruninal, the sick and the pauper. It is essentially wrong and unjust that really beneficial industries and sober, law-abiding citizens should be taxed for the support of the victims of so pernicious an industry as that of liquor production. Here in Brazil we find that even the humblest industry is being taxed beyond endurance for the sup-port of the state, and we see no reason why the liquor industry should not pay its right-ful share. Let the distiller and dealer pay in proportion to their capital and income what the humble boot-black pays in this city, and we shall be quite satisfied. As for the wine manufacturers, no tax can comfor the wine manufacturers, no tax can compensate for the injury they are doing. They are not making a pure and whotesome wine from the grape, but a vile decoction from rum and drugs. They bave so filled the country with their poisonous compounds that outside a few shipping ports it has become almost impossible to procure a pure wine. They have made falsification a legitimate business, they have had the impudence to ask for protection, and now they have the hardthood to protest against the taxes levied upon their infamous industry! Let them protest! Ten contos a day would not repay the country for the injury they are doing. If our lawgivers can not find means not repay the country for the injury and doing. If our lawgivers can not find means doing. to suppress them altogether, then let them be taxed. So too with tobacco and its manufactures. If we must have such vices, then let us not complain of the cost. It is better to pay heavily on what we smoke and drink unnecessarily, than upon necessary food and clothing.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

After a delay of eleven days, a quorum was finally secured on the 14th inst. and the 3rd session of the 2nd congress was declared open. On this occasion the President's annual message was read, being received with profound attention.

Owing to the great length of this message, we are able to give only the part relating to the financial state of the country. The greater part of the document will have but slight interest for our foreign readers, because of the purely local character of the subjects treated. The few exceptions relate to the controversies with Great Britain France, Bolivia and Uruguay—all of which are described as approaching an amicable solution—to a congress of American repub-lics, which the President cordially favors, to the progress made in establishing and proper quarantine stations along the coast.

In local matters, the President carefully avoids disputed questions and expresses his opinion only on those of a general character, in regard to which there can be no dispute. Among others, he recommends the exten-sion of federal action to control epidemics, reforms in secondary and higher instruction, various judicial reforms, legislation on mar-tial law and on federal intervention in the states, the revision of the electoral law, legislation on the loss and reacquisition of litical rights, and in regard to the grant of aid to the states, reorganization of the national guard, the grant of bounties to vol-unteers, the reform or reorganization of various public departments and services in cluding the military school, reforms in the service of introducing immigrants, improvements in the water-works service of this capital, provision for a census in 1900, restricting the favors granted as to admission of imported articles duty free, and aboall a reform of the circulating medium. regard to the financial state of the country, the President says;

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

The financial situation continues to absorb the attention of the government.

I have persevered in the plan, which I had adopted, of loyally executing the law, reducing as far at possible public expenditure and seeking to exercise a vigilant supervision over the collection of the ievenne.

In spite of this administrative programme, which has everywhere proved effections in restoring the finances of the country, in spite of literaal tranquility secured by the pacification of Rio Ganale do Sui, thus eliminating a vast source of expenditure for the treasury and of disturbance for the nation, in spite of the government's having raised a large external loan, enabling it to withdraw from the market, which has been thus freed from the presence of a large purchaser of exchange, in spite of the government's having commenced the execution of its policy of redeeming the currency by the withdrawal of 30,000,000$ from circulation, exchange, to the astemshment of everyone, has fallen to a rate that perplexes all who are acquainted with the great revouces of the country.

Althingh it is true that in the last few months importers, increasing their orders, have found it necessary to come into the market for a greater amount of exchange, and although the coffee crop was not large and the receipts have been really small, there is, nevertheless, in doubt that under these circumstances the value of our exports has been such as not to warrant so great a decline in the rate of exchange.

During the vear 1895 there were shipped at this capital for foreign countries 2,763,727 bags of coffee and at the port of Santos 4,194,583, this quantity alone representing the official value of 279,177,016$790.

In the same year the state of Paú exported 15,396,257 kilogrammes of rubber. These isolated lacts show that, while in 1895 commercial transactions were not large and there was even perhaps some depression in trale, the exchange are fell far below its natural level, thus failing to represent correctly the economical condition of the country. You, nevertheless, comprehend to what extent the life of the maintained.

This situation demonstrates that there is not yet entire unflesses the treasury is obliged to make culation.

In this suggestion there is, as you see, a sure resource which acts independently of the budget laws voted by congress—the debt of the Banco da Republica and the respective interest on one hand, and, on the other, the amount of the bonds representing the deposits made as a security for the notes issued.

and, on the other, the amount of the bonds representing the deposits made as a security for the notes issued.

If these bases or others suggested by your wisdom and experience are adopted and if the resources, which they offer are strengthened with those which may be obtained from the budget as soon as the equilibrium between revenue and experience that have been established, the circulation within a period comparatively short may be reduced to reasonable proportions.

So great is the importance which both at home and abroad is justly attacled to monetary circulation, which is the desideratum of all well-constituted governments, will contribute to improve and strengthen our credit.

The revenue collected in the fiscal year of 1895, as shown by the data contained in the respective synopis, amounts to 25,887,647856. Adding to this sum that of 32,663,249$618, at which by a proportional calculation is estimated the amount of the balance sheets not yet received at the treasury, we have 290,550,867$418.

If to this sum weadd the receipt of the additional half-year, cicculated in view of the amount of the polyons facal year (10,174,393$78), we shall leave 300,725,297$639 or, including the net amount of 64,90818, estimated at 19,273,197$835, the sum of 319,993, 49485424.

The revenue having been estimated at 270,108,-000$, the amount with this have probably

The revenue having been estimated at 270,108,-008, the amount which will thus have probably been collected exceeds it by 49,800,4948942.

The expenditure for the fiscal year had been estimated at 275,691,6708585, but appropriations not contained in the budget were made to the amount of 69,503,6828225, swelling the total to 345,195,But since of the 332$513. But, since of these appropriations only 60,339,915$144 belong to 1893, the sum of 1.007,200. $833 being for 1893 and that of 8,156,566$246 for

1894, the amount of the expenditure is reduced to 1894, the amount of the expenditure is reduced to 336,031,885,732.

Accordingly by this calculation the revenue, including the net amount of depodits, which is 19,-273,197883, amounts to 319,998,4948,942 and the expenditure to 336,031,5858732, leaving a deficit of 16 0.33,0038.

expenditure to 336.031,585$732, teaving expenditure to 336.031,585$732, teaving the folial state of the denosits included therein, the deficit rives to 35, that it will not be said to the explendature to 326, 33, $5$, $732, leaving a deficit of 16,03, 99; $792.

Delibering from the revenue the amount of the deposits included therein, the deficit rives to 35, 306, 288, $62, $802.

It is probable, however, that it will not be so targe, for the whole of the sums included in the hadget and in the special, extraordinary and deficiency appropriations, to which I have referred, will not, it is supposed, be expended.

For 1896 it is impossible to determine what amount of revenue will be collected.

To avoid the increase in the duties established by law No. 350, of December, 1895, the entries of imports at the custom-home were large in the six quarter. It is accertained, however, that the customs receits at Rio de Janeiro for April are about 2,000,000$ less than those of the corresponding month of the previous year.

This decrease, it is true, may be compensated by the collection of the increased taxes, which in the 1st quarter was not effected in relation to the merchandise which left shipping ports before and up to December 31, 1895.

Taking, however, as a hasis the revenue collected in the quarter from January to March, to the amount of $8,050,000$, and estimating at the same sum each of the three following quarters, we have for these the sum of 240,750,000$, or 321,000,000$ for the whole year.

Adding to this sum that which will probably be collected in the additional half year, if we estimate it by the amount collected in the corresponding period belonging to 1894, we have 331,174,399.

$878, which is 18,459,000$ taz less than the sum of 340,544,000$ estimated in the last budget, if we deduct 5,000,000$ at which was estimated the net amount of deposits.

These e-tinates may be exceeded in view of the large confee crop, which will have a favorable effect on commercial transactions and on the rate of exchange.

Nitwillistanding the increase in the revenue and the resources obtained by means of the last loan, everything requires that there should be dutness prudence in voting expenses and the utmost ca

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

MAY 14.—Senate.—The senate elected its officers and standing committees. The vote fur president fro fem. was as follows: Manoel de Queirca, 24; João Pedro, 13; Leopoldo de Bubbes, 2; Hahak I. Baráo do Ladario asked to be excased from serving on the marine and war committee; but the senats, notwithstanding his insistance, refused to comply with his request.

PROVINCIAL NOTES

-A boundary dispute seems to have arisen between the states of Bolia and Espirito Santo.

—It is said that the S. Panlo monarchists will have candidates in the field in the elections of next October.

-The head quarters of the second military district, which had been transferred from Pernambne to Ceará, have been reestablished at the former —The Santa Agneila small-pox hospital at Pernambuso had 130 patients under treatment at the end of April. There were 6 deaths during the month.

—A new theatre is under construction at Piraci-caba, São Paulo. It will have a seating capacity for 1300 persons and will be named after the com-poser Carlos Gumes.

It is said that the 13th was not celebrated with much animation at Campinas. Very naturally! The liberation of the slaves was not altogether popular in that district.

—A Pernambuco telegram of the 12th inst. says that counterfeit state binds have made their appearance in that city. There seem to be counterfeits without number throughout Brazil.

-Advices from the Rio Grande frontier report an unusual activity among the federalists, and it is said that they are preparing for some kind of a demonstration as soon as the winter ends.

—We are in receipt of two new dailies from the state of São Paulo—the Gazeta da Tarde of Santos, and the Municipio of Rio Claro. Both are devoted largely to local affairs and deserve a long life and largely to loca all prosperity.

During the first three months of the current year there were 1,776 deaths from infectious diseases in the city of São Paulo, viz. January 570 February 510, March 687. Of these pallmonary consumption caused the largest number of deaths —From the 1st to the 8th inst. there were 23 deaths in the town of Casa Branca, São Paulo, of which 15 were from yellow-fever. On the 11th inst. there were 26 patients under treatment in the place, of which 20 were in the isolated hospital.

-According to the report of Professor Fuertes on the sanitation of Santos, says the Commercio de São Faulo, it is considered essential, (1) to establish quarantines, (2) to sanify the dwellings, (3) to improve the present water supply, (4) to extend and improve the sewers, (5) to establish drainage canals, (6) to create a service for the removal of garbage, and (7) to renew the pavements. The estimate on these improvements was $2,700,000. Feeling itself unable to meet the whole expense recommended, the state government decides to do nothing. It is forgotten that these improvements can be carried out singly and separately. on the sanitation of Santos, says the Commercia

—A newspaper, called A Ziguia, published at Taubaic, São Paulo, was attacked by four men a few days ago, and alter an exchange of lueffective shots with the editor, took possession of the place and completely upset it, scattering the lyne, breaking the forniture, destroying the books, etc.

—In S. Paulo on the 11th inst. Gnilherme Falcone, a police detective, was tried for the mut-ter of João Bressane, committed last September, and was found goilly and sentenced to 12 years' imprisonment. The trial, which had exceled much interest, was largely attended and lasted till midnight

—The Diaris of Campinas calls attention to the enormous quantity of gai bage which has lutely been removed from the sitests and houses of that city. Of course if the people and the city government will not observe even a radimentary principle of hygiene, then they must submit to the conhygiene, sequences.

—The senatorial election in Pernambiteo has resulted in the selection of Depaty Rosa e Silva, the federal cambidate. An election will now be necessary to fill the vacancy in the chamber caused by this depaty's election to the senate. With such a system, elections are simply interminable. It is hecoming an abuse.

—The São Paulo papers are criticising the the telegraph service, and with good reason. They are never certain of receiving their telegrams, and aimost every other day they are compelled to announce that their customary late telegrams ("waltima heys?") had not been received at the hour of going to press.

—São Paulo continues to firmish its with an exceptional list of criminal occurrences—murlers, assaults, binglaries and thefts. Lately the confidence operatur has been at work and has been strangely successful at the old conto do vigario—the trick of indicing a man to put his money with the thiefs for sale keeping.

—The municipal judge of Nictheroy has decided that he is incompetent to order the lelivery of the municipal building and archives of that city to the former municipal chamber. This chamber, he says, most apply to that which has possession of the building and archives and in case of a refusal appeal to the governor of the state.

—We are indebted to the São Paulo Athletic Club for a complimentary card to the club's grounds for the current season, for which the secretary will kindly accept our best thanks. The activity of the São Paulo and Santos cricketers is worthy of all praise and encouragement, and we shall be glad not only to see the wickets drop but to make a record of it likewise.

to make a record of tinkewise.

—The Gracata da Tarado of Samos learns that the municipal council of S. Luiz do Parahytinga has resolved to impose a lax of 25000 on every death, and 2005000 on every marriage. It is said that the ynung people are now going slewhere to get married. The tax on the dead is less than here in Rio, Inwever, as the officials here are refusing to sign burial certificates for less than 35000.

sign burial certificates for less than 35000.

—The governor of Sān Panlo, it is said, will alders a message to the state assembly asking for measures to secure sanitary improvements for the whole state. This is right, but If it leads to heavy expenses without an effort to carry into execution the measures recommended, as was the ease with the surveys and plans prepared by Professor Fourtes, then penhaps it will be better to save the money lot drogs, disinfectants and coffins.

money to drogs, dismitectants and comms.

Duning the second fortnight of April there were 112 deaths in the town of S. Småo, state of São Panlo, of which St were victims of yellow-fever. From the 1st to the 6th inst. the epidemic cursed the leath of 32 more. It appears to be exceptionally virulent in that place. According to recent advices, some of the more humane chizens of the town have organized a "red cross" succept for the purpose of extending aid to those suffering from fever.

-With regard to the loss of the British hkn —With regard to the loss of the British Ishn. Primmore the Rio Graule papers state that the ship grounded on the morning of the 4th inst. The master appears to have either misunderstood or disregarded the signals. The steamer Coetho Netlo at once went oot, but found that the vessel had suring a leak. The master and reew, except two were then taken off. On the following day, several trips were made for the purpose of removing the sails, tackle and all other movable property.

-At a place called Monte-Sião, in Minas Ge-—At a place called Monte-Sião, in Minas Ge-rees, a fatal disease is said to be prevalent among the cattle, causing their death in 24 hunrs. Calves are said to the within six to eight hours. Dogs eating the flesh of the dead animals die immedi-ately. A correspondent telates that on the 15th nit. two women drank some milk, from which they died, one in 12 hours, the other in 15 hours. It would be well for the sanitary authorities to inquire into this matter very carefully, for even the Minas cheese coming from that locality might be infected.

-A Pará telegram of the 14th announces the ac — A Pará telegram of the 14th announces the arrival there of the composer Carlos Gomes. He was in a very weak state and was barely able to speak. He was at once removed to the residence specially prepared for him and several physicians were in attendance. Subsequent advices state that the patient is suffering from a disease of the tongue which is now beyond the surgeon's skill. His condition is grave, and all that his friends can do is to administer to his comfort for the brief period of life which remains to him.

-On the 10th April a group of liberty-loving and law abiding jacobins attacked the printing and law abiding jacobins attacked the printingoffice of the Din in Curitya, Paraná, and completely destroyed it. The Dia had only just come out as a monarchist organ, but the anarchist citizen objected. The poluce interfered just too late to save the office, and have since been unable to identify any of the persons engaged in the assault.
And, of course, the free republican press of the state feels it desirable to conceal the tacts. A brief mutice from the Kepublica of 12th April tells the slory.

A telegram of the 12th inst. states that at lage Dr. Humero Baptista has recently had a long interview with Gen. Silva Tavares. In this interview the heter is reported to have leclared that he and has freends ask lor security in the exercise of all their civil and political rights, including that of suffrage. On his part, the Prevolent declares in his message that he has exerted himself to enforce respect for constitutional garantees. But it is a well-known fact that his efficiency they may have been, have not been saccessful, and this he seems to recognise, for he aids that reconciliation must result from the slow action of time. In the meanwhile, however, the outrages continue and new causes are daily added to those already existing, which lead the Nio-Grandcuses to doubt the efficacy of peaceful measures for the relieves of their wrongs.

the efficacy of peaceful measures for the reuress of their wrongs.

River Plate papers confirm the telegraphic report, which we published in our last issue, of the opening of one of the mail-bags cornered from kin Grande to Montevideo by the steamer I/1s. The seals on the large bag containing the one which had been opened were intact, and this seems to leave m doubt that the crime was committed at one of the post-offices in the state of Nin Grande. A telegram of the III in its. from Porto Alegre reports that another mail-bag from Quarahy containing letters for the commander of the district, has also been surreputitionsly opened.

It is stated that in Porto Alegre there will shortly be a meeting of the principal leaders of the opposition.

It is stated that in Porto Alegre there will short. The amount of the principal leaders of the opposition.

Bamblus are reported to be committing depredations in the vicinity of S. Borja, and many frauds are said to have been recently discovered in the customhouse at Porto Alegre.

At telegram of castifibits origin accuses a body of federalists of having made an attack on a husenses house at Bagé.

It is thought that ex-Minister Antão de Faria will be the autonomist candidate for the office of intendant of Porto Alegre.

Julio de Castilhos is said to be preparing to increase the strength of his army.

A telegram of the tofth inst. from Montevideo alludes to signs of another revolution impending Rio Grande do Sul, It is possible that this may be founded on the assertions made by the Federação, but at all events no one on fail to see that there is always danger of a revolution so long sauch high spirited people as the Rio-Grandenses are deprived of the right of self-government. It is to be hoped, in the interest of the whole country, that, in the event of another outliereds, the government of President Unidente de Moraes will not adopt the fixed policy of unimbiling Castillus, which moder the calant tors role of Marshol Floriano Personte led to such deplorable loss of Hife and Irrasoner. To interfere for the purpose of forcing the Rio Grandenses to submit in the sway of a detested tyront would be an act of glaring inconsistency on the part of the President, which is necessary to the part of the President, who have the present with the appearance of state autonomy and who are the proposed of the states with never consent to the ruled by the central government.

beyond the bare record very little is said, Sursly the well-being of society demands something more than this?

—Inasmuch as the Chiliau and Argentine police have resolved to close up the shops which deal in second-hand articles, which are generally nothing more than depusits for stolen property, we may soon expect to see the police of this city and 10 Sao Paulo idoing the same. And it will not be an unwise step either.

—The official report for the first half of April gives 1,122 deaths, 629 births and 78 mantiages. There were 15,073 port arrivals and 10,814 departures. Of the deaths, 296 were from yellow-fever, a very marked decline from the 490 of the preceding bertnight.

—The minister of war, in his teport, says that the number of troops stat boued on the frontier of Parand is insufficient. Why does he not reinforce them with troops mow stationed in this city and in Rio Grantle do Sul? From both of these places they can be very well spared.

—Friday mucht last a man named Solvador Diaswas beaten and strangled to death by a tenani, named Alexandre Coelho, at No. 52 Run Duque e Saxe. The crime was one of exceptional ferocity and bratality, and it is to be hoped that the penalty will be equally severe.

—Aibinugh congress was opened on the 14th, the chamber was unable to organize on the 15th and 16th for lack of quirum. It is more than a shame that the deputies should title with their duties in this manner. If they have so little consideration for their companions and deties, then measures should be taken to punish them for so gross a disregard of their obligations.

—Congress having opened, Gen. Pites Ferreira has resigned his post as director of the assead of war in other to take his seat in the senate. The transfer was made on the 14th. If it is true that fixed by law tor the opening of the session, then there must have been an accumulation of salaries, which is supposed by some to be prohibited.

The deceased was $5 years of age and still took an active part in public affaits. He has heen connected with many important interests, both political and industrial, and was one in the first promotes of the Dom Pedro II railway. He was a native of Minas Gerres and represented the state of Espirito Santo in the senate.

—The senatorial election in this city on the 13th inst. resulted in the choice of Deputy Thomaz Detfino to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Aristides Loho. The new senator is known principally for his advocacy of the bleas of the jacobins, and he can not therefore he a fair representative of the commercial metropolis of the country. Barely a tenth of the voting population took the troulle to vote. Another election will now be necessary to fill the vacancy caused by his promotion.

It was a holiday, and also an election day, consequently the post-office was closed at 1 p. m. Instead of dispatching the mails quickly, the post-office criecks indiparacitally nothing. We received one letter and no newspapers from Europe, and the mails were not all distributed until afternoon. Surely something is sudically wrong with the mangement of this important department. The public pays enough for its support to warrant good service, but inseed of this it receives only toglect and inattention.
—Complaints have been so often made about the postoffice that it seems idle to repeat any more of its blanders, but a São Paulo subscriber sends us the proofs of one which its too good to be ignored. We have before us the envelope of a letter madel in Pars in June 1894 and addressed very clearly to our subscriber at "Rua São Botto 41, em São Paulo, Brèsil." The address is as clear as though it lad heen printed, and yet it only reached its destination a few days ago, or neally two years after it started out on its pligrinage. Among the postunaks on this envelope is that of "Cheraka, 6 Maio, 96." What it was doing un there, only a postoffice employe can know. —The public debt of the state of Paralyha on 31st December last was 639,683$743.

—In the budget voted by the legislature of Matto Grosso the revenue of the state is estimated to 1897 at 779,722$ and the expenditure at 779,327.

The legislative act authorizing the state of Bahia to provide for hypothecary loans in aid of agriculture, has come to naught, no bank wishing to undertake the business.

—A credit of 386,593$333 was opened for ac-ount of the minister of industry on the 14th to over the extraordinary expenditures in connection ith the immigrant stations on Illia das Fluces and at rimeno.

—The President states that in 1895 exchange fell far below its natural level. Before we can agree with him he most tell us what is the natural level of exchange. He admits the excessive issue of paper money, and this will be found to have very much to do with that level.

The Beginning of the control of the or paier money, and this will be found to have very much to do with that level.

—The President says that the fall of exchange to its present low rate perplexes all who are acquaisticed with the great resources of the country. He should except those who are also acquainted with the great capacity of the government for squandering those resources.

—Congressman Glycerio's retrenchment scheme is very grod as firm as it goes, but it must be contessed that it duesn't go very far. In the budget there are expenses of a general character which are instances, especially among those of the war department, much more harmful. Moreover the government doesn't regulate its expenditure by the hudget. hudget.

—Several months ago the American minister addressed a communication to the foreign minister asking wint hanking system is employed in Bazil. The question was referred to the treasury, and then to others until it finally reached the board of brokets, where we lost sight of it. Has the question ever been answered? We do not wish to seem impairitive, but we really want to know something on that question in this office.

MARKET REPORT.

Rio de Janeiro, 18th May, 1896.

Exports.

Exports.

Coffee—The past week was interrupted by two holidays and until Saturday there was next to no movement, with the market weak. On that day a sharp decline was submitted to by the dealers, and some 6,000 bags changed hands, which brought up the total sales for the week to about 9,000 bags. Receipts have increased, and as the holidays stopped shipments the stock also have increased by some 14,000 bags, but there are still coffees to be shipped, probably nearly expose bags, and the weakness of holders of coffee appears to have resulted from the continued back of competition among exporters, as well as the now accepted opinion that new offsees are quite teat. The statedy advance in exchange has mentialized a go of part of the decline in currency prices of coffee, and this unorning there was some demand, with exporters however offering at something under the lowest quotations we print below, and with every probability that they will find sellers. Dealers have not accepted the decline with very good grace, and are not conforted by the reflection that the market has been relieved of a good deal of coffee, the quality of which was far from suffactory.

The market opened on the 11th with No. 7 quoted at softon-20$200, but there was a wide difference of opinion between buyers and sellers, and there was nothing delign. On the following day the brokers quoted 19$500 and on Saturday the business done was reponde to have been on the basis of 19$000, or perhaps something less, while to-day about 18$200-19$000 appears to represent quotations.

THE FRANKLIN TYPEWRITER.

SOME DISTINCTIVE FEATURES

Simplicity.—Has fewer by six hundred parts than any other type-bar machine, thus reducing liability of getting out of order. Any intelligent person can understand and operate it.

Type Cleaning.—The types are cleaned in five seconds time, without touching with hands.

Ribbon Changing.—No soiling of hands

Durability.—All_metal, except the key-tops, platen, and feed-rolls. Constructed of the best material, by the most skilled Alignment.—The type-bars are guided, thus ensuring exact and permanent align-

Speed.—The expertness of the operator is absolutely the only limit to its speed, Visible Writing .- Every letter is shown as soon as struck, and the work remains in sight. Corrections are thus easily made, and context verified.

Manifolding.—The stroke is downward direct, and powerful, making it the most perfect manifolder and mimeographer on the market.

Repairs. - Owing to every part being interchangeable, purchasers can almost invariably make what few repairs may be needed themselves, thus saving cost of repairer. The machine is therefore extremely economical.

Arranged for writing Portuguese, French, Italian, Spanish and German, without charging parts.

Ribbon Changing.—No soiling of hands or loss of time in changing ribbons, the latter being recled from the spool on which it is purchased to the machine spool.

Keyboard.- Has the standard keyboard, with capital shift, locking shilt, and celluiloid keys—the latter being black and white, as recommended by eminent

A Time Saver, -Owing to its automatic paper shift ribbon changing device, ease un making corrections, quickness of type cleaning, and the fact that the work is always in sight, it is the greatest timesaving writer manufactured.

Appearance. Without exception, handsomest typewriter made, beautifully nickeled and japanned—an ornament as well as an article of necessity.

Work .- Its work is clean, clear cut, and beautiful in appearance. Samples cheerfully furnished upon application.

Price: $90 with Table.
